To Whom It May Concern,

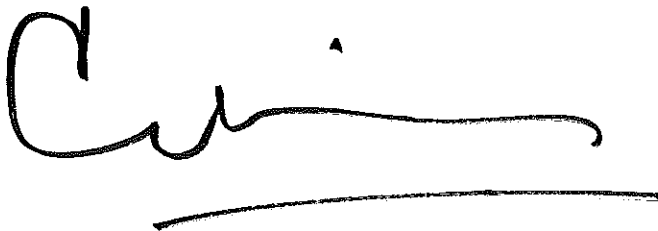

It is a pleasure for me to recommend Robin Prager of the Outsource Resource. Robin worked closely with me for several years at Akris. Our project began as an office set up and evolved to support many operational areas of our business. Robin was integral in building a fully functional office as we built our business here, managed day to day facilities and operational projects, oversaw seamless office relocation two times and supported the HR function as needed.

Throughout the process, Robin's contributions allowed all this to happen with minimal business interruption, stress or frustration for our company and employees. She became an important part of our team here and employees went directly to her as though she was a member of the company full time.

On a personal note, Robin is a pleasure on every level. She is honest, reliable and epitomizes a "can do" attitude. Of the many challenging requests I passed along to Robin, I was never met once with a "not possible" reply. Instead she always came back with a creative solution to make it happen no matter the challenges of a timeline or budget.

Overall Robin contributed enormously to the functionality of our business and I would not hesitate to hire her again should the opportunity arise.

Sincerely,
